WRIGHT AND LIKE SPECIAL EVENTS

Friday, June 2 ■ 6 pm – 9 pm

An Evening with Mr. Wright and Mr. Niedecken ■ Prairie School Collaborators

In the early twentieth century, interior architect and Milwaukee native George Mann Niedecken was designing progressive and daring living spaces for some of Milwaukee's more adventuresome families, such as Adam J. Mayer and Frederick C. Bogk.

Niedecken's landscape mural 'Woodland' above the reception room fireplace in the Adam Mayer residence was central to the home's overall design scheme, where earth-toned art glass depicting stylized insects and furniture and woodwork of curly birch beckon the Wisconsin forest.

Regular visits to Frank Lloyd Wright's Oak Park Studio led to the beginning of the fourteen-year relationship between architect and interior architect. The Frederick Bogk house, with its immaculately preserved interior and furnishings, exemplifies one of Wright's and Niedecken's exciting Prairie School collaborations.

Join us for an evening of sumptuous hors d'oeuvres, libations, coffee and desert, as we visit these impressive and architecturally significant Milwaukee homes, and enjoy stimulating conversations with the homeowners and other Wright and Like guests. A brief talk on Niedecken to be given by local historian John Eastberg.

Limited to 75 attendees. Advance reservations are required.
